Susobhan Date:14 th October,2014	Indian	My object to my visit to a remote village Ullon far away from the city of joy is just that I had to gain some practical knowledge from the most practical man Mr. Kapil. While arriving at Lakshmikantapur, I was unable to utter the word “Ullon” but people around the shops told me that village of Kapilananda. As in our economics there is no practical lab like physics & chemistry, so it is must for every student of economic to get expose to all the happening in outside world to acquire the private knowledge, where economics scientist like Kapilananda is doing good for the village poor by his creativity & talent, although he is just 10th pass. Economics is such a subject which doesn't need any special coaching to understand it, it's a natural phenomena which one can use it, if he feels it. I would like to visit again this heaven structured campus to expand my theoretical knowledge & transform it into practical knowledge. — Susobhan.

From my first afternoon at VSSU, I knew there was something remarkable about this place & everyone who works here ,and each and everyday afterward, this point was proved again & again. The hospitality and friendship shown to me during my internship have been incredibly appreciated : I truly feel like a member of the VSSU family ,& for that ,I am extremely grateful .Thank you to everyone in the Head office,branch offices ,Oceanic library & VSSU schools who helped teach me about their work & its value to the community. I have been fortunate enough to visit many NGO'S in India & abroad but none compare to VSSU with regard to passion ,pursuing the holistic development of the community ,& persevering in the face of challenges & opposition. This constant pursuit of excellence is truly remarkable ,& something I hope I can emulate in my own work in the future. This summer with VSSU has been an experience unlike any other I have had before , it is something I will look back upon with great happiness & nostalgia in the future .I have learned not only about microfinance & community development , but about myself , about life in rural India, 7 most importantly ,what truly wonderful people Bengalis are. There are so many more things I can say ,but I will instead simply say again: Thank you so very, very much. All the best, Samantha Mcnelly.

Mr.Mondal's model is really philanthropist, catalyst for social welfare. He is a visionary;he is a missionary; he is a philanthropist,he is a humanist.....many many.I cannot tell the all what I feel in my heart. He see dream, makes dream, translate the dream into reality where all his dreams are for human well being. Every person , who think about humanity ,can come and visit VSSU, can learn from him, get spirit and can spread this spirit. He is a nucleus which try to function socio-economic welfare in this remote area. VSSU is not a microfinance organisation, this is a heaven for children, for destitute and vulnerable people irrespective of ll caste and clan. I learned a lot from Mr.Mondal and VSSU, which may be the direction for my future works. He may die in future but his activities will last long into the heart of people for thousand years. I wish long life of VSSU long life of Mr.Mondal, long life of all the charities. Shahadat Hossain.

First of all,

I wish to thank VSSU and especially Mr. Mondal for welcoming me during these two and a half months and for allowing me to do my internship here.

I also thank all the people that I met at VSSU, they are all great people.

For me, this internship was a beautiful human experience, where I could learn and understand another beautiful culture.

Finally, I have learned a lot about working in a NGO and in India, acquired skills in microfinance and study analysis. This experience was very interesting and informative.

I wish all the best and good luck for the IBC2012.

VSSU will be always in my heart.

Thank you.

Dearest Kapil and VSSU members,

One thousand of thank you at least! Thank you for the attention you gave me, all the things you taught me all your kindness and your devotion. Thank you also for accepting me in the big family of VSSU. I am so happy and so proud of having been part of this dream. I will never forget this experience.

Thank you Banani, Soma, Swapan Da, Rathin Da, Mr. Sengupta, Pal Babou and Sur Babou. Thank you Darpan and Arpan, thank you Mitali Baudi, thank you all.

During these three months I learned so many things about microfinance, its impact on social development and about myself. I also had the chance to discover people whose life is difficult but for whom the word bravery has all its meaning. I can now say how people's life is difficult but thanks to organizations like VSSU, they can be proud of themselves. I am really glad and privileged to know the women of these SHGs.

I would like to also thank all these people working in the fields and in the head office, thanks to their daily commitment to empowering the community. It has been a true honor working with you.

Finally thank you again, thank you so much Kapil Da for the discussions in the library, in your office, for the precious moments we have shared, for your lessons of life, your experiences you told me.

I come back in France so rich, you can't imagine! I will miss you so much. I hope to visit you again, before too long, I am pretty sure the 27th September 2012!

Please stay in contact and tell me if I can help you with anything you need.

All the best and good days come fast!

Dear VSSU,

I would like to thank you so much for the opportunity that you have given me, I will always remember the time I have spent here and the amazing people I have met.

I have learnt so much during my stay, not only about microfinance and development, but also about myself and the world outside of my own country.

I very much believe in the work VSSU is doing and the impact it has had on the local community and am thankful for the opportunity to witness this and can only hope that I have been of some help during my stay.

I wish you all the best for the future,

Dear Kapil, and all staff at VSSU,

It is with a bitter taste in my mouth that I leave VSSU today. I was really enjoying my stay here: the field visits, the quietness of Ullon, and most importantly, you: the people. You have been very kind and helpful to me all the time. I wish I could stay longer and I hope you understand the reasons for which I am leaving. Accidents happen in life. Even though I am sad about leaving, I'm at least happy to have spent one month here, it was an amazing experience. Hopefully one day I will come back. (and not get another injury!)

Special tanks to Banani for her kindness, help at all times, availability and friendship; Deprasad and Dipankar for their amazing service and constant smiles; Anusree, Darpan and Barnali for making it possible for me to go on the field and do my work; all the branch managers I have seen; Jagdish for his driving and Swapanda for the motorbike rides; and of course Kapilda, for sharing your insight and being a great host.

All the best!

Very Dear Kapil, I do not know from where to start this letter. There are so many things and so much feeling over my mind right now that I feel very confused about what to write. But first of all, I MUST SAY THANK YOU, not only on behalf of me, but also on behalf of all people who work for you, who has been helped for you or have visited VSSU once. I guess, or better, I am completely sure, all of us and every person who have been once touched by your work or personality, all of us are grateful for have met once, in this miserable and crazy planet, a person like you. It's a honour to me to have been in contact to you.

All the days I spent here, all these 49 days were strongly teachful. Every time I visited the branches, when I sat, when I talked to the clients, to the branch managers and CO's, every time learning. Every time getting know the limits and the changing, getting know difficults, challengers and transformation: all the transformations of lives made by your work. I saw people smiling proudly of their business, happy that they reached their previously dreams and larger to reach other goals due to the VSSU staff. I will never forget their faces, their enthusiasm when talking about the loans. Much of my impressions I tried to met on my study cases, but most of them, the ones those are unforgettable, I will carry inside my spirit till the end of my life and it will inspire me. I am sure I will never more have such an opportunity in life again, the moments don't repeat.

I also have met nice and great visitors here, all of them, and that had taught me that only special people are allowed to come here and live or visit this place. This is due the hand of God who takes care of your business and keep all eyes to send to you the right people.

Also the right people work here. All of them my special. I have never, I have never in life felt so welcome and so well treated, never, I have been in more than 10 different countries over 4 continents and I can assure you guys from VSSU know how to receive somebody. DO IT A BUSINESS sound.

One of VSSU clients once has told me: "I inspire myself in Mr. Kapil, this way I must success and Is the guy of the jewelry shop in Kulpi. He is right. I will do that. I was talking to my many of months ago and she told me "you are changed. Even your way of speak, grown nice, not only what you say". So Kapil, as you can see, you are a like magic, you change lives

		through microfinance and you change spirits giving us the opportunity to work for you. Take care of the children, I love them. "It's a pity that I can only stay in VSSU for 15 days. It's a fortune that I can learn from the people, the village and VSSU.

Taiwan has almost the same latitude with the greater area of Sunderbean, with similar geography and typography. I will try my best to connect to NGOs, Govt. or enterprises in Taiwan to provide resources and assistances for the development of this area.

Even though people come and leave, I deeply believe that the network of the VSSU family will make a difference, - in one day of the future.

I appreciate GOD gives me this opportunity to see this cozy village, the friendly people, and also the reflection of myself.

All the best to VSSU, the development of West Bengal, and the incredible country – INDIA.

"May be I stayed in VSSU to long; when it's time to leave, it looks not like going back home, but like going away from fome. Indeed, VSSU is my home in India.

In these eight months, I learned too much from this NGO. Kapil, he is always as busy as possible, but always spent time with me; Banani, never less busier than Kapil, is the answer to every problem; what's more, all VSSU staffs, I saw from them the commitment and passion for its vision. You are my family member in India. Among all people mentioned above, I want to specially thank Kapil. He is always willing to share his experience with us, to satisfy our demand, and, most importantly, to spread his visionary commitment. Before I came here, I once wonder how can a NGO survives in rural area, without external funding for 20 years.
When I arrived, seeing everything happening here, I found the key solution. Faith. It is a pure faith of community development that strengthens and energizes VSSU on this difficult but essential road. All the world should learn your spirit, Kapil dada.

So long, my family in India, you have given me so much treasure, but I have little in return. All I can do is to wish your courage and confidence, so that more people here will be benefitted.
When you feel depressed, just remember that you have a brother in Taiwan who prays for VSSU for good luck every day.

This eight month internship is a life-changing journey; I will never forget.

首先恭喜你: 能看得到這篇文章, 代表你做了個不小的決定。這也很可能是你跨向獨立自主的第一步。
然而, 獨立自主也意味著要對自己的行為完全負責。不論你在這裡的時間有多少, 都必須給自己設定一個目標。也許在中國傳統文化裡, 我們都很擅長回答別人出的考題, 但在這裡, 你得學著給自己出問題。
所以目標設定才那麼重要。VSSU裡有各式各樣的資源, 人們也都很願意幫助你。如果只是渾渾噩噩地過日子, 到最後只會一事無成。
不要害怕失敗、跌倒; 大膽去嘗試, 最後的收穫自然就會加倍豐盛。
祝福各位!

"if a healthy seed of a giant tree is planted in a flower-pot, the tree that will grow will be a miniature version of the giant tree."

It is not because the seed has been denied the real base to grow on. People are poor because society has denied them the real social and economic base to grow on. They are given only the "flower-pots" to grow on"
(M. Yunus, 06)

We must move the poor people from the "flower-pots" to the real soil of society. This extraordinary organization, VSSU, is certainly contributing a lot to relief poor & marginalized people from their "flower-pots"...

God bless your work and give you the strength to go on & on & on..."

Thank you for everything!!! I spent a veeeeeeeeeeeeery good time here! With an enriched mind I will now turn back to Switzerland!

Your friend,

Jill"

Before I came, I knew VSSU's experience would bring me a lot of surprise. It really does! I saw people here happy, sad, struggling, striving & celebrating & had the chance to feel the noisy of Kolkata & the quietness of Ullon, the bitterness of village life & the abundance of market prosperity. Now, when I leave, I can say "This is real India. I can feel it" I'm really appreciated to all the staff of VSSU. With the help of them, I can know about the real microfinance. I can enjoy the life here without the vivid life of VSSU, every minute I spent in office, in market & in villages. Thanks a lot. About VSSU, I wish it would help more & more people in the future. Helping is more than an end, instead it's also about means. VSSU has made a lot of effort to try different ways to help, & I hope VSSU will finally find the best way to empower the people in this area. I'll wait & see. Thank you again. Give my most sincere gratefulness to Mr. mondal, Mithun da, Pranab Da, Dillip Da, Debpal, Debprasad, Ashok Nilay's children & more and more kind staff both friends here. Teena & Mohit

Dear Mr. Mondal, & the VSSU Staff,

This was my second visit to Ullon. My first visit was only for a day last November, but even in that brief visit I could sense the meaningful work VSSU was doing and the spirit of the founder Mr. Mondal. During the present visit which lasted 5 days, I got an opportunity to see first-hand some of the activities the organization is engaged in. It was very impactful to attend two SHG meetings in Dhola, go to the Lakshmikantapur market for daily collection, walk in the neighboring villages, visit the Sundarbans and spend time talking to the staff and Mr. Mondal.

I am thankful to everybody for spending time with me. I am touched by your spirit and the work you are doing, against all odds. I wish the organization much success. I am sure I will be back here soon.

Best Wishes,

Today, I have discovered the real India- profound, hard-working, and respectful of the environment. I have only one regret-that I did not come 20 years sooner to help those who, contrary to what I have seen before, do not try to make a profit from the work of the poor (as was the case in my previous missions in NGOs). My only wish is that VSSU becomes a veritable research & training center for development, recognized in West Bengal and throughout India, and that this magnificent example be replicable in other countries who have the similar need to nourish their community, all by using the least harmful methods for the environment (the least amount of chemical fertilizers and soil treatments). I will do all I can for the development of VSSU. I will try to propose this project to the European Commission, as the charisma of your President, Director and all of his team (interns included) makes it a project that is useful and profitable for more than 10 villages and more than 300 farmers. Your warm welcome and your sense of hospitality have made it such that I will never forget you, nor will I leave this project aside after I leave. Sincerely thanking you, I wish VSSU a long life, one that will become a place to visit for all those who wish to see the small producer in India receive training and be able to have a good return on their investments (& as a result have a better life!).  Jacob Marcus Balzani lordcob@gmail.com	ITALY	Kolkata, 15,01,2009 Dear Kapil, At this end I suddenly went away. Everyday I was feeling more and more haunted by Ullon and its surroundings. Once arrive in the noise of Kolkata I understood I left a paradise. A Japanese tale says: "Important decisions have to be taken with lightness, while little decisions have to be taken seriously." I don't like to talk a lot and, being there I might not have shown how grateful I was. I learned, but would be better to say I saw, how much hope can bring microfinance to a family. I saw how important is to reinvest money in social services. What has been constructed in a community last longer than coins. Sometimes I feel like losing the concept of what money is. How could I? When I compare how hard a person has to work here with the business of

		life in my country. These are soft personal thoughts, coming naturally, when you see how much work there is behind such single Rp. One of the most beautiful things I saw was how ecologically behaves people. Everything seems to work together: The mud cups, the water ponds, the for the and everything in these rural areas seems to undergo a self cleaning process. I would have..... to visit VSSU with my mother. But this is impossible now. She would have loved this place. See you And greetings to everybody, Jacob.  P.S. to Jagdish → drive slowly!

And I was right. I barely know where to start to explain why our visit to VSSU was so important. From the moment we walked into your office, framed as it is with a portrait of Gandhi and a statue of Lincoln on one side, and a poster on the other that says "You have to have a dream so you can get up in the morning," to the moment we left with those beautiful volumes of Rabindranath Tagore's poetry under our arms, we felt the spiritual and visionary underpinnings of your entire effort there. And throughout our trip, as I will explain below, we spoke about VSSU's community development model everywhere we went, and it was the one project that elicited universal interest on the part of whomever we were speaking to, whether a venture philanthropy funder, reading glass distributor, appropriate technology provider, or women's equality advocate. VSSU captures people in a way that is truly remarkable. I think this is clearly because you are treating the people in your network with dignity. You founded VSSU on the simple idea that a community can undertake its own development without outside funding if it pools its own financial resources and then utilizes them to mobilize the community. We loved hearing that Muhammad Yunis himself told you that you were the first person to completely realize his original microfinance ideal of 100 percent loans from savings. And of course we still are in awe that VSSU at present has 10,000 borrowers and a balance of savings of $1M. Congratulations!

I have done quite a bit of thinking about your hoping to find someone who could come and for at least a year, preferably two, stay by your side, teach you English, and help you put some of your ideas into higher gear. Over the next couple of weeks, I will be introducing you by email to a number of people whom I think will have great ideas for you in this regards. One is Varun Sahni, the new director of the Acumen Fund in India (www.acumenfund.org). he is close to the student community at the India School of Business, and a few of the recent graduates with whom we met told me that they know of fellow students who would be interested in applying for that position.

Acumen itself has just completed an international search for ten fellows who can assist them in their efforts in Asia and Africa to develop business models that can show the world how to design, price, market and distribute critical goods and services to the poor, so they can make their own decisions and solve their own problems, and I have no doubt that among the 590 to whom they did not offer a position there are some outstanding people who would love to know about your opportunity. Acumen has as its goal to serve the poor with dignity, and says in its materials that it wants to "treat the poor not as passive recipients of charity but as consumers with real choices." That sounds so much like what you are trying to do at VSSU.

There are several other organizations in the Woodcock community to whom I will be introducing you, and I am quite certain that we will be able to find you an excellent. Another person that I am most eager you connect with is another Ashoka Fellow, Kalyan Paul, who is based in Ranikhet in Uttaranchal. His program is also one to which he has been devoted for 25 years, www.grassrootsindia.com, and his program in so many mirrors VSSU, except in reverse. They have proven track records in working with appropriate technologies to protect watersheds, to purify water, to create biogas, to reforest the Himalayan hillsides, and several other conservation programs that I think you will find inspiring. He in turn wants to embrace VSSU's microfinance model, and as a West Bengali himself, quite eager to come and visit you.

In closing, let me tell you that I hope for my whole life never to forget those moments when the 25 children you had rescued from the brick kilns came and sang for us. I was reminded of your mentor at that moment, Swami Vivekananda, and his saying "the more we come out and do good to other, the more our hearts will be purified." All I can say is, Mr. Mondal, you must have a very very pure heart.

Sincerely,

Alexandra Christy

Development in the community is also very obvious. All the best. Hanna Butler" 20th September, 2004 Dear Kapilda & the men & women on white, When I first came to VSSU over 2 months ago I was blown away, and now I am still blown away. I am blown away by the beauty. Blues skies, and bright green paddy's. roads that meander through villages planted with trees by VSSU and on these roads against blue skies and green paddy's men dressed in white cycle wide & far to give microfinance to the poor. In all weather, these men in white collect meagre savings, give advice and inspire people to enhance their economic situation. It sounds like a bizarre fairytale, but the reality is that it works. VSSU can prove their impact by more than just figures, but now they have improved peoples lives. I had never realised the full potential & benefits of microfinance until now. It is essential for holistic development and a tool that empowers and secures all aspects of ones life. So, thank you VSSU for this exposure to the world of microfinance, and thank you to all who have taught me, given me insight and let me observe their work. VSSU is however more than microfinance. VSSU's initiatives for social development are innovative and selfless. On days off, the staff clean up markets & plant trees – I admire & commend you. I have had an amazing time & feel like a part of the VSSU family. Thank you for the tea & biscuits, the tiffins and the chats about cricket. Please continue to keep up the great work and growth to reach even more people on need of microfinance delivered by the men on the whitest clothes on town. I will definitely be back, and please if you are even in the bottom of the South Pacific to visit me. Thank – You & Namaskar! Hanna Butler" "in the end only three things matter How fully you have lived How deeply you have loved and how well you have learned to let go of things not meant for you" - Buddha
